

Production Reporting (PRD)

Production Reporting is a crucial step in maintaining accurate coverage and ensuring your policy reflects your actual production history. Growers must:

- Report the previous year's actual production for each insured crop and provide records as proof.
- Submit production records to both your current agent and a previous year's agent, if applicable.
- Ensure all production reports are signed properly by the designated Production Reporting Deadline (PRD). Without accurate and timely reporting, your coverage may be affected.
